10. Background: The APO Secretariat convened an Expert Group Meeting in Tokyo in February 2010 to discuss initiatives in public-sector productivity enhancement. The meeting identified applicable tools and techniques for promoting public-sector productivity. Lean management was identified as one possible tool to be applied in this area. The meeting stressed the importance of enhancing the quality of services, increasing stakeholder satisfaction, and improving cost-effectiveness and transparency in the public sector.

In August 2010, the APO conducted a study mission to Canada to observe the best practices of the Canadian public sector. It was found that the key success factors were: 1) changing mindsets toward customer-oriented services; 2) in-depth collaboration between the federal and local governments; and 3) willingness at the top government level to champion and push through the necessary reforms.

This study meeting will identify the application of lean management in the public sector. The scope of the meeting will be: 1) central and local governments; 2) public service agencies (e.g., schools, libraries); and 3) public enterprises (e.g., railways, postal services, utilities). Participants will exchange best practices and examine the opportunities and challenges for its implementation in the public sector among member countries. The meeting will also develop the methodology and a roadmap for the application of lean management in the public sector for further APO initiatives.
