Prime Minister Commodore Voreqe Bainimarama has commended the Asian Productivity Organization (APO) for their 29 years of support to Fiji.

While opening the 54th Workshop meeting of the Heads of National Productivity Organisations today, Commodore Bainimarama said Fiji has received a great deal of support from APO training and development in many areas that have helped raise the performance of managers, technicians and CEO's both in the private and public sector.

The Prime Minister said Fiji still has a lot of work to do, but there is no doubt that Fiji is a different country than Fiji was when it started with the APO.

Commodore Bainimarama said Fiji owes a great deal to the lessons it has learned from the fellow APO member countries in making Fiji more productive and committed to quality.

He also spoke to the heads about Fiji's constitution saying Fiji will hold democratic elections next year.

19 countries are in the Asian Productivity Organisation which includes countries like India, China, Pakistan, Nepal, Korea, Sri Lanka, Iran and Japan.
