Weeklong training course for business in excellence

ROLAND KOROI
Monday, May 23, 2016

Update: 3:03PM MINISTER for Education, Heritage and Arts Dr Mahendra Reddy today opened a week-long training course that aims to promote the business excellence concept, develop assessment tools for the business excellence framework and form strategies for business excellence implementation in public-sector organisations.

The training is organised by the National Training and Productivity Centre of the Fiji National University in partnership with the Asian Productivity Organisation (APO).

It is being attended by 24 participants from 16 APO member countries.
