Objectives	Carry out final revision of the institutional capacity development plan for the Vietnam National Productivity Institute (VNPI) before its implementation; disseminate the capacity development plan for the VNPI to key stakeholders; and develop a monitoring plan to track progress and identify challenges during implementation.
Rationale	Various initiatives to boost productivity in Vietnam including the development of the National Productivity Master Plan have been carried out. The master plan contains a roadmap, targets, and initiatives for elevating national productivity. The VNPI plays a key role in achieving higher productivity, which necessitates its repositioning to meet evolving challenges.
Background	The first phase of the development of the institutional capacity development plan for Vietnam was completed in 2022. It contains recommendations on strategies, organizational structure, infrastructure, funding models, staffing, governance, leadership, human resources, services and programs, operations, and systems. The plan also recommends new focus areas for the VNPI to cope with evolving challenges. The second phase of the project is the dissemination of the recommendations to all stakeholders. The dissemination will also accommodate refinements to the plan. Key policymakers in relevant units or agencies will first be targeted so that high-level buy-in can be ensured. It may also entail plans to evaluate plan implementation after a specified period of time.
Topics	Dissemination of a mid- to long-term roadmap to upgrade the institutional capabilities of the VNPI including its synergy with other key productivity-promoting institutions in achieving productivity goals and targets set in the National Productivity Master Plan; and monitoring the implementation and progress of the plan.
Outcome	Buy-in and support for the implementation of the institutional capacity development for the VNPI can be ensured; engagement and ownership of all parties involved in the implementation can be obtained; and the progress and effectiveness of the implementation can be tracked.
Qualifications	Not applicable
